Ol' 101

With F. M. L.

The umpires were accused of being "blind, misguided and down right dishonest" Saturday night, but that was all right.

They were the "equalizers" that helped the Cameron Lions Club team defeat a Little League Ladies Auxiliary 17 - 4 in one of the wildest softball games seen in this town in several seasons.

It was all for a good cause -- an additional $80 for Little League equipment in the fastest growing sports program of its kind in Central Texas.

About 400 fans watched with fascination at the melee that spelled more fun for fans and players than most of them could remember.

Accounts were given of players catching their own teammate's hit, footraces along the basepaths and all sorts of gambits that shook the new Little League Field to its foundations.

This was more than a sign of a good time, however. It showed that a lot of people are having a good time doing things for their kids and the town.

101 - 101 - 101

FUN — IS — WHERE — YOU FIND — IT DEPT. — A number of Cameronites wearing Western Week beards have been visiting out of county during the past few weeks.

And it seems the city folks, supposedly blase and sophisticated, wonder "what gives" when a bearded Cameronite walks by.

Most popular accusation hurled is a nod of understanding and some muttering about "beatniks". It seems that's all that city folks know about beards these days.

Their dismay suggests that television hasn't had the impact one might expect. Everybody sees all kinds of beards , moustaches and the like on television Westerns.

Anyway, the best way to be noticed among a few hundred thousand people these days is to wear a beard.

When you're used to going to the big city to look at the tall buildings, it's kinda unusual for the city folks to look at you.

No Accidents In Cameron Last Week

Museum To Show Milam Articles

The Central Texas Area Museum, Salado, has invited Milam Countians to contribute historic mementos and papers for display at the museum during July.

Mrs. Sterling Robertson, president of the organization, said articles of Milam historic value may be turned over to County Judge Don G. Humble, Cameron Mayor Coleman Duncum, County Auditor Conn Isaacs or Milam County museum trustees John B. Henderson and Mrs. Graham Gillis.

Mrs. Robertson told The Herald that Milam County will be the first county in the area honored with a separate county exhibit. She noted that 8,000 visitors from 10 foreign countries and 40 states have visited the museum in the past year.

She cited the need for relics and documents for display in the following periods of Milam County history; period colonization (1826-36,) period of the Rupublic of Texas (1836) - 46) Early Statehood. (1846 - 61), Civil War period, Reconstruction period (1865 - 1875) and later statehood (1876 - 1900).

All relics and documents will be carefully displayed and returned at the completion of the "spotlight" period for Milam County, Mrs. Robertson said.

Duncum, chairman of the Milam committee, and other members will take the collection of historic articles to Salado for display June 28.

The Museum of History is on old US 81, north of Old Salado College. Visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p. m. Tuesday through Saturday and 1 to 6 p. m.. on Sunday.

Types of relics to be displayed in the Milam "spotlight" include documents, pictures, china, guns, glassware and other items dating from 1825 to 1900.

Milam County is the oldest of the original counties that comprised the first grant of land from the Mexican government to the Robertson Colony. Milam County was organized in the mid - 1800's and Cameron was founded in 1846.

Collisions Net Six Injured On US 77 Monday

Two collisions Monday on US 77 injured six people, one seriously, according to State Trooper Jack Straley.

A 1953 Pontiac driven by Paul Lewis Sheguit, 901 E. Eighth St., 5:30 p. m. Monday was in collision with a 1958 Chevrolet driven by Dallas C. Richards, Minerva, in front of Richards' on US 77 in Minerval.

The Sheguit vehicle, going north, rolled over on its top after the collision, injuring Don Edmonds and Stanley Fikes, both of Cameron. Two other passengers, Louis Hollas and George Hollas, and Scheguit escaped injury. The five men were returning to Cameron from Alcoa, where they are employed.

Straley said the Sheguit car may be a total loss while damage to the Richards car was about $450.

Richards was turning into his house driveway when the collision occurred. Sheguit's vehicle rolled into a ditch.

About 12:15 a. m. Monday Douglas Baxter Rockdale garage operator, lost his left arm when his wrecker collided with a 1955 Chevrolet driven by John Alexander, Lexington 8 miles sout hof Rockdale.

John Barrett, Cameron, was a passenger in the wrecker. The three men and Alexander's sister were rushed to Richards Clinic in Rockdale for treatment. Medical officials sent Baxter to Scott & White Hospital in Temple for special surgery on the arm.

Straley said the two vehicles sideswiped, causing the wrecker to roll onto its right side, piling a 1957 Buick being towed on top of the wrecker.

Straley estimated that all three vehicles were total losses.

Hospital Receives $41,046 Thus Far

The fund drive for the new Newton Memorial Hospital reached $41,046.50 but is "operating on borrowed time", advisory board spokesmen reported Wednesday.

Officials reported that a July 6 bid letting date has been set for the hospital and that Cameron's $50,000 total must be met if the project is to be built.

A spokesman said that a number of businesses and individuals are planning to contribute, but have not as yet made donations.

"All the contributions and pledges are sincerely appreciated," advisory officials said. "And we hope that those planning to contribute will make donations at the earliest possible time to ensure successful completion of the Cameron drive."

Total funds needed to complete the drive are now $8,953.50. A federal grant of $150,000 to $200,000 is forthcoming along with $60,000 in out - of county contributions when the Cameron drive is completed, officials added.

The proposed Newton Memorial Hospital project will cost from $350,000 to $400,000, building a four-wing, 28 - bed hospital in a one-floor plan.

"Bidders are already figuring on the job," officials said. A large number of bidders were figuring on the construction project, spokesmen added.

The proposed hospital project will replace the present Newton Memorial Hospital, located on W. Fourth St. in Cameron. The new site is north of the project.

In Buckholts, Sharp

School Vote Slated June25

Voters in Buckholts and Sharp dependent school districts will consider a move to consolidate the two districts Saturday.

Qualified resident voters may vote at polling places in Sharp District at Sharp School or at Tracy. Voters in the Buckholts District will vote at the Buckholts School.

Supt. James W. Perry, superintendent of Buckholts Schools, said that agreements between the Sharp and Buckholts school boards call for locating a six - grade elementary school in Sharp and a six-grade junior - senior high school in Buckholts, if the consolidation gains voter approval.

A seven - man board would be composed of three members from the present Buckholts District, three members from the present Sharp District and one member elected at large.

Perry would be superintendent of the new consolidated district and Mary Belle Batte, present superintendent at Sharp, would become principal of the elementary school.

Perry noted that property evaluations for school tax purposes would be based on county value with the same $1.50 per $100 valuation.

Perry cited a letter from the Texas Highway Dept. which explained that the last flood stage across Little River On FM Rd. 486 was in 1913. He said that some parents had expressed concern that children could not cross that point if high water were to crest at the FM 486 bridge.

Action to consolidate the two districts began in Buckholts, Perry said. School board meetings and community meetings in Buckholts and Sharp preceded the decision to take the consolidation issue to the voters, he added.

Officials also noted that the tax structure of the consolidated district would be unchanged, citing figures of lower tax valuations than other county school districts supporting a 12 - grade system.

School attendance figures for both districts last year totaled 281, the Texas Public School Directory shows. Combined valuation of the districts would be $2,092,305.

Perry cited other small county and area systems and their attendance totals and valuations: Milano, 249 students, $1,400,000 valuation; Thorndale, 364 students, $1,726,450 valuation; Rogers, 505 students, $2,214,000 valuation; and Bartlett, 300 students, $2,500,000 valuation.

If approved, the consolidation would reduce to five the number of high schools in Milam County. Buckholts and Sharp High Schools each graduated about 12 students during the past few years. The consolidation would mean a high school enrollment of about 100 students a year.

Advantages of the consolidation listed were: one teacher per grade, larger high school curriculum and broader student activities and no additional school bonds.

The Sharp District has about $15,000 bonded indebtedness and Buckholts about $65,000 bonded indebtedness, Perry said.

Several Thousand Become Eligible For Pensions

Several thousand widows and children of deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict will become eligible to receive pension benefits on July 1. These dependents will be entitled to these benefits as the result of a new pension law enacted by Congress last year, according to W. E. Obermiller, Veterans County Service officer.

Prior to passage of the new law, known as the Veterans Pension Act of 1959, dependents of deceased World War II and Korean Conflict veterans were entitled to pension only if the veteran had a disability which resulted from his active military service. The new law provides benefits to the dependents of deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict if the dependents meet certain limitations with regard to income and the size of their estate.

He said that a very small percentage of the widows and children in Texas who could benefit from this new law have a applied to the Veterans Administration for the benefits to which they are entitled. He also pointed out that the children of deceased World War II and Korean veterans are eligible to receive pension, even though their mother may have remarried since the death of her veteran husband, and even though the children may have been adopted by the mother's new husband. These children are eligible to receive pension while they are unmarried and under the age of eighteen years.

Unmarried widows and the custodians of dependent children may receive further information and assistance in obtaining these benefits by contacting Obermiller at his office located at 102 W. Main, Cameron, or from any office of the Veterans Affairs Commission of Texas.

ELIJAH S. BRIANT, SHERIFF

"Takes spunk to hunt a skunk!"

At the turn of the century the town druggist of Sonora, Texas, was a slender, mild mannered little man with mouse-brown hair and a schoolgirl complexion. He was Elijah S. Briant, also the elected Sheriff of Sutton County.

Once, on an April evening in 1901, Sheriff "Lige" was told that a pair of mighty suspicious, mean looking strangers had sneaked into town and holed up in the bakery. Five minutes later he had sworn-in two deputies, sent for the town constable, and was on his way. "We'll go see what they aim to do here," he said.

What they aimed to do was to shoot up anybody who interfered with them. But Sheriff Briant could shoot better, and quicker. When the smoke cleared there was quite a lot of damaged bread and coffee cake scattered around the bakery, also one dead stranger and another considerably ventilated. The deceased turned out to be the notorious outlaw Will Carver, and his perforated pal was George Kilpatrick, also on the wanted-dead-or-alive list.

In later years Sheriff Briant quit hunting skunks and rolling pills and became County Judge, then lived in peaceful retirement in San Angelo until his death in 1932.

Texas could never have become a great state without the "spunk" and devotion to justice of her lawmen... nor without the commerce and industry that have provided her with prosperity and the good life. The brewing industry, too, has had a part in this development. Providing payrolls and the pleasures of moderation, revenue and relaxation..."Beer Belongs." The United States Brewers Foundation is constantly at work with brewers, wholesalers, retailers and local authorities to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly and law-abiding conditions.

One member of the group died of injuries suffered in the two-vehicle accident north of Cameron on U. S. 77. Army officials took seven other men to Fort Hood following a treatment in Cameron.

"We wish to express again our admiration and appreciation for the excellent round-the-clock attention you gave for more than 48 continuous hours to members of this command involved in subject accident," the colonel wrote to Dr. W. R. Newton. "We are also greatful for the tireless efforts of all the members of the Newton Memorial Hospital."

"The rapid and thorough manner in which you and the hospital staff reacted in this extraordinary situation is undoubtedly the reason why several of our soldiers are alive today," the letter said.

"We also want to express, through you, our appreciation to all of the people of Cameron who have been so helpful and sympathetic with the soldiers involved and their families and all of us from Fort Hood who tried to be of assistance to them. We hope that we may someday repay all of the kindness and attention we have received," Col. Dixon wrote.

"We regret the inconvenience and delay which were caused you and the hospital staff all of your regular patients by the sudden influx of nine badly injured persons after the accident."

County Agents Notes

Stockmen Should Consider Silo

By J. D. Moore - County Agent

Some sections of Milam County had 1 to 2 inches of rain the first half of June and corn is holding up very well. Other sections had only a shower and upland corn is losing ground mighty fast against the 100 degree weather. Because of the importance of livestock and the possibility of a short hay crop stockman should consider silage.

Had a telephone visit with Valter White, County official and experienced stockman of the Maysfield Community. Mr. White thinks one ton of corn silage is worth as much as three tons of average grass hay. In Mr. White's opinion value of good silage at $7.00 to $10.00 per ton.

What would it cost? If a stockman owns the equipment to cut and store silage it will cost $1.00 to $1.50 per ton to cut and haul. If custom equipment is hired, the cost should run $2.00 to $2.50 per ton.

Three tons of silage will feed a cow or steer for one year. Thirty cows should have 90 tons of silage. These are maximum figures for silage feeding.

How large should a trench silo be to store 90 tons of silage feed. a trench 8 feet deep, 8 feet wide at bottom, 12 feet wide at the top and 70 feet long will store 90 tons of silage.

Advantages of silage - Mr. Valter White said the good thing about corn silage is you don't have to feed any supplement with it.

Other advantages are; There is a smaller loss of nutrients, better use of large stalks and according to Morrison's feeding standards good silage contains twice as much feeding value as ordinary hay. Then to, if silage is not used it stores very well until it is needed. An adequate storage of silage is real good insurance against a livestock feed shortage.

Milam County Crop Report

Keep Watch For Cotton Bollworms

J. D. Moore, County Agent

Around 4 small bollworms and as many eggs, per 100 terminal buds were found on June 21, on the Wilburn Beckhusen and Judd Davis farms in Little River bottom south of Buckholts. The cotton is well fruited and a good many lady bugs and spiders are present. This type of infestation is approaching the stage where poison applications are recommended. The first bollworm found this season was on June 10, in Gene Angel's cotton in the Hanover community.

This situation could be "good" or "bad". The cotton is twentyy days late and the boll worms are a little early due to the hot weather discouraging boll worm cycles in corn and maize.

What To Do? Boll Weevil counts run 10 to 30 percent stung squares, top soil moisture is short and the "mortage" on the crop is long. To say the least, this is no condition to take a vacation and leave. Farmers are urged to be aware of the situation. The first boll worm generation may be light and could be held in check by beneficial insects. The boll weevil punctured squares may not all produce second generation weevils due to dry, hot weather.

What To Do? Farmers should make a square count at least twice a week to determine the boll weevil count. If the infestation gets in the 30 percent range or better and if moisture is good, poison applications will pay if the guide is followed. If boll worm infestation continue to increase, poison applications will be necessary to save the crop.

If we start poisoning now, continued applications may be necessary to control the boll worms.

Courage – Political, Personal . . .

Vice-President Richard Nixon told a Houston audience Saturday that he felt Eisenhower's personal diplomacy is courageous and effective.

He also alluded to his own experiences in Venezuela during which he and Mrs. Nixon were maligned by a mob of leftest students and Communist agitators.

One must agree that "the U. S. can't put its tail between its legs" in the face of minority riots such as those in Japan, but one can question the continued effectiveness of personal diplomacy.

In his speech before members of the Texas Press Association, Nixon defended Eisenhower's plan of personal tours around the world. This is expected, since Nixon is the wide Republican choice for presidential candidate.

The stakes are too great, however, for placing the entire fate of the world in the personalities and hands of two men no matter who they are.

The Administration looks upon the Japanese reversal as if it perhaps was less than a major setback for American diplomacy. It followed closely the fiasco at the Paris Summit.

It seems likely, henceforth, that Communist agitation will meet Ameircan personal diplomacy at every turn with open, overt ridicule. As in Japan, it was not a personal thing against an American president, but an organized, mob conspiracy against the United States and its pact with Japan. Though the pact was ratified, the substance of the incident almost destroyed the current Japanese administration.

We have only to remember that it was assassination of a Balkan prince that touched off World War I. Personal political courage, though attractive to much of the world, hardly deters a world-wide Communist conspiracy.

It leads to the question: "Can brinkmanship succeed at the presidential level without forcing Khrushchev to use his rockets?"

Street Improvements . . .

Driving around Cameron these days, we see more and more improvements in roads and streets.

There is underway at present at least 20 or 30 blocks of street improvements. Much of the work is pea gravel and hotmix for stretches of road that would probably go wanting otherwise.

Paving and drainage, two of Cameron's major civic problems, are thus under constant attack by city planners. It is an arduous task to keep improving block by block rather than section by section, but the work is to be commended and appreciated by those interested in better driving conditions.

City officials have said that drainage, even more than streets, is Cameron's big problem. When proper drainage can be established city-wide, then the streets will be easier to build and maintain.

Work along that line also continues as the city continues installation of a major drainage line in east Cameron and is planning ditching operations in other parts of the city to relieve bad drainage situations.

This work can go unheralded. Or it can be appreciated.

Democrats Start Fresh History

By Virn Sanford

AUSTIN — Texas Democrats are starting a fresh page in their history. The era when the party could be split on the basis of who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 is ended.

Only thing which could revive that long - cherished bone of contention would be for the Party to nominate a ticket so distasteful to Texans that the state would again go Republican.

At the state convention Democrats of widely varying views united behind the Lyndon Johnson banner to bury the extreme loyalists of the DOTC in the most overwhelmingly lopsided vote in party history.

Even seasoned political reporters were caught off balance by the 2,252 - to - 40 vote by which the DOT proposal was defeated. They used such unaccustomed adjectives as "astounding" to describe the victory.

State Executive Committee proposed a loyalty pledge binding on state party officials, delegates to Los Angeles and presidential electors.

DOT insisted that in addition, a loyalty pledge should be circulated among the county delegations and that no one should be allowed to stay in the state convention hall unless he signed it.

DOT did everything possible to fan the issue. Blurred, hastily printed floyers headed "Who Says Party Loyalty Is a False Issue?" were scattered outside the convention hall. Flyers showed a picture of Gov. Price Daniel introducing Eisenhower at a 1952 campaign rally and reproduced a copy of the ballot by which a majority of Texans split their tickets in '52 and '56 by voting Democratic on the state level and Republican on the national level.

Alex Dickey of Denton, one of the DOT spokesmen given equal time to debate the issue before the delegates, proclaimed heatedly that "party loyalty is the issue before this convention."

But his weapon had lost its edge. After the vote, Governor Daniel declared that any group that tries to send a rival delegation to Los Angeles on the basis of 40 votes out of 2,292 " must be out of their minds".

Even drooping DOTers agreed. Dickey refused to bolt, told symathizers waiting outside they had been beaten fairly.

Reporters, who had tried to beat deadlines by writing "hold for release" stories describing the expected "rump" convention, hastily filed mandatory kill orders.

UNITY IN DIVERSITY

Events at the State Democratic convention, though it was frequently referred to as the most united, most harmonious in history, demonstrated clearly that is is, as it always has been, only as united as strong personal leadership can keep it.

By its very make - up the Texas Democratic Party is like six tomcats in a tow sack. Gulf between the very conservative delegation sent to Austin by Harris County and the very liberal delegation from Bexar County is greater than the gulf between Republican and Democrat in many parts of the country.

Convention keynoter, Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, took note of this. "Out of our disorganization, our diversity . . . and even our disagreements," said Wright, "comes our strength. We are the party of no one because we are the party of everyone."

Test of this came after Senator Johnson made his triumphal entry to the accompaniment of marching placard - carriers, music and cheers. When the tumult ended and Johnson began to speak, the Harris County delegation, which had voted not to support Johnson, booed at the end of each statement. It was an awkward moment.

Senator Johnson, who was discussing his experiences in the U. S. Senate in working with men of such contrary views as Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator Morse of Oregon, departed from the text of his speech.

Despite their differences, said Johnson, these senators "always behave in a courteous and gentlemanly manner."

Harris County was heard from no more, and Texas Democrats proceeded with, for Texas, first class harmony.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

William Jennings Bryan, in his presidental race of 1896, was denounced for his advocacy of "free silver" but, oddly enough, his position was little different from that which his successful opponent, William McKinley, had held not long before.

McKinley's reversal is amusingly depicted in Oscar Ameringers "If You Don't Weaken" (Henry Holt and Company). As a member of the band which welcomed the deligations who came to Canton, Ohio, to pledge their support to the Republic candidate Ameringer heard the speeches which McKinley made in his "front porch" campaign.

On each occasion, the advocate of the gold standard would produce a silver dollar from his Prince Albert coat and say." My fellow citizens, the opposition will tell you that this silver dollar represents 100 cents of American currency. Yet the same amount of silver contained in this dollar I hold in my hand will only purchase fifty-three cents' worth of merchandise in our sister republic accross the Rio Grande."

The observer said that he knew that silver dollar well, because, a few years before, he had seen McKinley produceg it, o r one just like it, during a speech on the courthouse steps in Circleville. At that time, the speaker was running for governor and his declaration then was, "The opposition will tell you that the silver I am holding in my hand is worth only fifty-three cents. But I challenge any of my intelligent audience to walk into any store in the city and convince himself that this silver dollar will purchase one cent less than 100 cents' worth of goods.

McKinley's switch was even more amusing brought out in a story in Louis Brownlow's "A Passion for Politics" (University of Chicago Press). The author, himself a Democrat, had a cousin, Walter Brownlow, who was named as Tennessee's representative on the Republic National Committee in 1896. Someone protested to Mark Hanna, McKinley's campaign manager, that Brownlow was not for the goldstandard but, on the contrary, had won the Republic Congressional nomination that very year on a free silver platform and therefore should be removed from the national committee.

Hanna wrote to Brownlow, inquiring about the matter. Here is his reply, in direct which would have done credit to the pen of Artemus Ward or Petroleum V. Nasby.

"Dear Mr. Hanna, I done got your letter. It is so that I made some speeches only this here past spring when I was a-running' for the Republic nomination for Congress. I hadn't never run for no office before, and I hadn't never made no speech. I knowed I didn't have sense enough to git me up a speech so I just thought I'd git a speech some other feller had made and git it by heart and just say it.

"I happened to pick up a speech made by a feller by the name of McKinley to the Stark County, Ohio, Farmers' Alliance a couple of years or so back.

"I aim to be mighty busy in this here campaign, but if Mc flops agin, just wire me. Yours truly, Walter Preston Brownlow."

Poage Discusses Foreign Aid Bill

By Cong. Bob Poage

The House has just approved a substantially increased Foreign Aid Bill. A number of amendments involving hundreds of millions of dollars were adopted. I voted against the amendments and the bill.

As I see it, there is no justification for the wave of hysteria which grips the Congress as a result of the loss of face which we have sustained in Asia. It is perfectly true that when the Japanese Government was forced to say that it could not guarantee the safety of the President, that American prestige in the Far East took another nose dive, but this was not due to any lack of aid to Japan or to any other country. We have given Japan billions of aid and today Japan certainly needs no aid. We have plenty of military force in Japan to deal with the professional trouble makers and Communist - inspired mobs. We simply are not going to use our troops as Russia used hers in Hungary. Ten times as many troops in Japan would not have changed the present situation. Nor would the giving of a dozen jet plans to every small and defenseless country in Asia, Africa, and South America add to our national defense. Air power is of little value when scattered around in uncertain hands. If we are to enjoy security, we must maintain American strength. I think that we are worse than wasting much of our foreign aid.

Earlier this week the House voted to increase the wages of all Government workers by 7½ percent (or in most instance more). I know that Government workers are finding it difficult to make ends meet -- just as all other workers are. I voted for a motion to fix the increase at 7½ percent for postal employees (a new increase of 5 per cent and a renewal of the existing temporary 2½ percent increase) and 5 percent for all other Government workers. This was defeated. I cannot believe that we can exceed this amount, which comes to about three - quarters of a billion dollars per year, without the most serious consequences -- not only in the way of taxes but also in the way of a complete round of wage increases and price increases, leaving the workers who get the increases in no better shape than they are in now and leaving everyone who does not get a raise in far worse shape, having to pay more for everything they buy. This is the clear pattern of inflation. I voted against the bill.

As we approach the end of the session our activity picks up on all fronts and so does our mail. If we are slow in acknowledging your communication, please bear with us. We will reply just as quick ly as we can.

Improvements On Brushy Creek Watershed Start

Survey work on the channel improvement part of the Brushy Creek watershed program has been started by a Soil Conservation Service engineering survey crew. The survey was started at the mouth of Brushy where it discharges into the San Gabriel River and will be continued upstream from that point.

The survey party is composed of John D. Rhea, survey party chief, and engineering aids, Nolan Bird, Henry Flores, and Bill Matejcek. The survey crew is presently working out of the Rockdale Soil Conservation work unit office.

Purpose of the survey is to determine the type of channel improvement work that will need to be done on lower Brushy to handle the release water from the flood retarding structures to be constructed on the upper portion of the watershed and the run-off that will come into Brushy below the structures. The survey will cover approximately 42 miles, 36 miles on Brushy proper and approximately six miles up Turkey creek which discharges in Brushy near Thorndale.

After the survey has been completed definite plans and specifications will be prepared for the channel improvement work. The channel improvement work will probably include some straightening of the the channel, clearing of brush, from the channel and in some cases may also include widening and deepening of the channel to give it more carrying capacity.

Easements for the channel improvement work will have to be secured by the Brushy Creek Water Control Improvement District from the landowners that will be affected by the improvement work before any construction work can be started.

Construction work on the flood retarding structures on Brushy is progressing very satisfactorily. Dirt work has been completed on 13 of the 58 proposed structures. Contracts have already been let for the construction of eight more structures and construction is already underway on several these. The Brushy Creek Water Control Improvement Distict plans to let contracts for the construction of three additional structures within the next 30 days.

Amazed To Find Russian Farming Subject To Weather, The Same As His Is

Dear Editor:

As I understand it, the Russians are experts when it comes to propaganda, they let the outside world know only exactly what it wants it to know about what's going on behind the Iron Curtain, no more and no less, everthing is thought out years in advance, and everthing runs like clockwork.

Well, I have always felt that regradless of what information the Russians put out, they must be human beings the same as the rest of us, their tractors must get flats and bust gaskets the same as ours, and this opinion has now been confirmed again.

Last night I read in a newspaper which I found alongside my road out here yesterday morning, I guess somebody had run out of beer cans to throw out and had to resort to a newspaper to keep his arm in practice, that weather in Russia has cut the crop prospects over there.

Obviously, the Russian propaganda system is breaking down. You mean to say Russian agriculture is subject to the whims of nature the same as my farm out here?

According to this article, Spring in Russia this year was cold, dry and windy, and the autumn before was extremely dry, with the results the dust storms have been blowing grain crops are light, and distress slaughtering of livestock has been necessary.

I don't say this gloating by I dont like to see anybody, even a Russian, try to farm in a drouth, but what I can't understand is how the Russian leaders with all their propaganda expertness slipped up and allowed this news to get out. What they ought to have been saying was that Russian agriculture is booming, they've got so much grain they're figuring on shipping a lot of it by rocket to the moon as a stockpile for the colonists they expect to have there as soon as they push the right button.

I'm afraid though that Communist farming, like any other kind, still depends on the weather. It's not always a satisfactory arrangement, but hasn't anybody invited a substitute yet.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Cotton Root Rot Damage Foreseen

COLLEGE STATION — If rains occur during June, July and August, cotton root rot losses will be high. This prediction comes from Dr. Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist. He bases it on the amount of disease carry - over in the soil from last year, and the late cotton crop. The disease occurs in all areas of the state except the Panhandle, High Plains and sandy soils of East Texas.

It is known that the disease fungus is carried over in the form of seed bodies or sclerotia. A minimum of 25 to 30 of these sclerotia per cubic foot of soil are necessary to cause disease. Due to the large amount of root rot the past two years, a high count of sclerotia are present in all infested soils, according to Smith.

When cotton roots grow close to the sclerotia in moist soil, the seed bodies of the fungus germinate and attack the cotton root. Within a few days large patches of dead cotton appear.

The disease is nearly always more damaging on late than on early cotton. Early cotton is more likely to escape some of the damage.

Smith advises growers to start planning preventive measures immediately for the 1961 cotton crop. Deep plowing, 10 to 14 inches deep, with a mold board or disc type plow is recommended. In a few areas, because of the type of subsoil, this will not be possible. However, deep plowing as great a depth as possible will be helpful in reducing root rot, the following year, he says.

View On Sports

By ROBERT MANN

Cameron has added to it's fac- ilities this year, a baseball park that cost several thousand dollars to construct. At first there were a number of skeptical people, then there were those who were flat against a ballpark.

However, there's always the fel- low that is a little smarter, or maybe a little more optimistic than his neighbor. This fellow is going to ask some questions, he's going to look around him and he's going to look into the future. He's going to take the past as a lesson well learned and not look back.

This is called surveying the sub- ject. Is this project good? If so, how good, worth the cost involved? Who will it be good for? Will it help or hurt someone, if so, who?

Questions like these flow through one's mind and he goes about an- swering them or finding someone who can.

Here is what Cameron's baseball park has done so far. It gave Cam- eron a well rounded recreation pro- gram; the people came to life. Sp- orts fans realized they didn't have to drive 50 miles to be entertained and family discovered a means of entertainment besides the televis- ion.

It brought that teenage boy off the street and it symbolized some- thing. It showed that a group of people, large or small, can suc- ceed when they have the same desires.

Some said it will down grade football; all sports are connected. The success of one usually means the success of another. If anything it adds to fall sports, the baseball situation just fills in a lapse per- iod.

This thing is here to stay if we want it. Do you?

Cardinals Whip Waco Eagles, 12-2

The Cameron Cardinals romped past the Waco Eagles last Sunday by a 12 - 2 score. Tony Mendoza was the winning pitcher.

Mendoza went the distance and led the Cards at bat. His catcher was Marion Dela Rosa.

Johnny B. White and Pete Or- tiz were the big men at the plate for the Cards.

Next week, Cameron will meet Bastrop there.
